

REAL ESTATE

Wilderness Country Club residents celebrate nature, practice sustainability

Cone Communications Co. Special to Naples Daily News

Published 6:01 a.m. ET Feb. 6, 2021

From the cultivation of orchids and growing vegetables in the chef's garden to the production of their own honey, residents of Wilderness Country Club are able to engage in a variety of social activities and hobbies that enable them to celebrate the community's natural environment and practice sustainability.

Residents of Wilderness Country Club are able to engage in a variety of social activities and hobbies that enable them to celebrate the community's natural environment and practice sustainability. Submitted

Nestled on 200 lush tropical acres in the heart of Naples, Wilderness Country Club is an established residential community featuring an 18-hole, Arthur Hills golf course and a full array of club amenities. For more than 20 years, Wilderness Country Club has been certified as an Audubon Cooperative Sanctuary and that designation reflects residents' commitment toward environmental stewardship.

Other features of Frank Park include four Har-Tru bocce courts and a regulation-size croquet court where members can enjoy spirited competition. Also, within the property is a dedicated Dog Park area where members and their four-legged friends can participate in daily “Yappy Hour” social gatherings.

With the increased interest in developing sustainable business practices, Wilderness Country Club is preparing to join the growing number of clubs throughout the country that are providing charging stations for members and their guests with electric vehicles. Due to arrive later this season, the ChargePoint charging station will provide exclusive access for charging up to two cars at a time.

Wilderness County Club is situated on the east side of Goodlette-Frank Road just north of Golden Gate Parkway and holds the distinction of being the very first private, gated golf course community with a mandatory membership built in Naples. It is conveniently located just minutes from the restaurants, shops, arts and entertainment on Fifth Avenue South and white, sandy beaches of the Gulf of Mexico.

Wilderness Country Club is one of the lowest density communities in Southwest Florida, featuring just 300 condominium residences ranging from approximately 1,700 to 3,000 square feet of living space.

Many of the two- and three-bedroom residences have been fully refurbished for resale while others are a blank canvas allowing buyers to use their imagination and create a home that suits their unique needs. Each condominium residence features an abundance of glass that helps bring the natural beauty inside.

A wide variety of opportunities currently exist for homebuyers looking to purchase an existing condominium in a private, gated golf course community within the heart of Naples. For additional information or to view available properties for sale, call 239-261-6060 or visit www.wildernesscc.com.